Curtis E. Degenfelder Biography
President, Curt Degenfelder Consulting, Inc., (CDCI)

Curt Degenfelder is a national healthcare business consultant with 38 years of healthcare experience; 30 years working with community health centers (CHCs). An industry thought leader, Curt has helped hundreds of CHCs across the country on consulting projects, by creating effective approaches that consider both the internal and external operating environments. He has a deep understanding of health center profitability, including the impact of staffing, provider productivity, and revenue/rate setting. Curt's expertise touches all facets of a CHC via his comprehensive analysis, and he is known for his ability to speak the language of community health centers that resonates across the organization from the Board of Directors to the front desk staff.

He performs strategic planning, financial and operational trainings for CHCs, state primary care associations, the National Association of Community Health Centers (NACHC), the Health Resources Services Administration (HRSA) as well as boards and foundations.

Mr. Degenfelder has Bachelor of Arts degrees in History and Economics from Cornell University.
